

REPRESENTATIVES OF QUEENSLAND STATE ELECTORATES 1860 - 2009

Albert

First used as an electorate name under the 1887 redistribution, it survived successive boundary alterations until 1949, when the Darlington and Southport electorates were created. The name was revived in 1959 and retained in the 1971 and 1977 redistributions, though covering a greatly reduced area. Minor changes were made in 1991, including the loss of Carbrook in the north and coastal areas below Paradise Point in the south.

Brisbane

The “Town of Brisbane” and the “Town of South Brisbane” were two of the original electorates set up under the Order-in-Council of 6th June 1859. Except for the 1949 and 1986 redistributions the Brisbane River was the “natural” boundary of these electorates, and under this heading the successive electorates for the central city are listed in chronological sequence. Similar treatment is given under SOUTH BRISBANE, for the variants relevant to that area.

Burnett

One of the sixteen original electorates proclaimed under the Order-in-Council of 6 June 1859 returning two members. By the 1872 Electoral Districts Act it was reduced to a single member constituency from 1873 until 1932 when the name was dropped as a result of the 1931 redistribution. The electorate was largely incorporated into Wide Bay (1931) and Maro-dian (1949) before being revived for the 1960 election. The 1991 redistribution extended this electorate north to include part of the former electorate of Callide and east to include part of the abolished electorate of Isis.

Caboolture

Came into existence under the 1977 redistribution being constituted principally from the northern part of the former Murrumba electorate. The area of the electorate was greatly reduced in 1986 through the creation of two new adjoining electorates. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate moved north to occupy the southern portion of the previous electorate of Glasshouse including Bribie Island. In the 1999 redistribution the seat disappeared.

Coorparoo

Introduced by the 1949 redistribution when the seat was excised substantially from the former electorates of Logan and Maree. Following the 1959 redistribution the name was dropped and a new name for much of the areas assigned - Chatsworth.

29.04.1950 - 28.05.1960	HILEY, TA

Crows Nest

This electorate was created in the 1991 redistribution from parts of the previous electoral districts of Somerset, Lockyer and Cunningham to form an arc of areas west, north-west, north and north-east of Toowoomba. The seat was abolished in the 1999 redistribution.

19.09.1992 - 17.02.2001	COOPER, TR

Croydon

Formed by the 1892 redistribution which divided the electorate of Burke in half, giving the name Croydon to the western portion. The seat only lasted until the 1911 redistribution, when it was absorbed into the Burke and Flinders electorates.

Cunningham

Established under the Electoral Districts Act of 1887 which split up the old seat of Darling Downs into Cunningham and Cambooya. The name was retained for the same area for many years and was substituted for Drayton in the 1922 redistribution when the name ceased to exist. The original seat stretched from Cunningham's Gap, west to Clifton and south to the NSW border excluding the town of Warwick. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate assumed much of its original shape, once more stretching south to the NSW border and including the town of Goondiwindi. Some of the northern part was lost to the new electorates of Crows Nest and Western Downs.

Fortitude Valley

Hamlet of Fortitude Valley was one of the original sixteen electorates proclaimed under the provisions of the Order-in-Council of 6th June 1859. It became Fortitude Valley in the 1872 redistribution and in 1885 became a dual member constituency, remaining so until the 1910 redistribution returned it to a single member seat. It was abolished in the 1959 redistribution when most of the current electorate was incorporated into the Brisbane and Merthyr seats.

Wolston

One of the original sixteen electorates established under the Order-in-Council of 6th June 1859, the seat returned three members at each election from 1860-1873, when as a result of the 1872 redistribution, Ipswich, as it now was known, became a single member constituency. In the 1878 redistribution Ipswich became a dual member constituency until 1912, when it reverted once again to a single member seat, with the re-introduction of the seat of Bremer.

Landsborough

Initiated by the 1949 redistribution which created the electorate from the northern portion of the former Murrumba electorate and the eastern part of the former seat of Stanley, which was abolished. Population growth resulted in very substantial erosion of the original area covered. Abolished in the 1991 redistribution and subsumed into the new electorates of Caloundra and Mooloolah and the existing electorate of Nicklin.

Leichhardt

One of the original sixteen electorates of 1859, the seat stretched from Mackay in the north to Taroom in the south, based on the area west of the Great Divide, as far as the Nogoa River. It returned two members (1860-1873) and (1878-1888) with one only thereafter until it was abolished in the 1931 redistribution, at which time it was a Central Western seat based on Clermont and Springsure. The seat was split between Barcoo and Normanby electorates.

Lockyer

Created in the 1887 redistribution, the seat originally took in the area east of the Range at Toowoomba, including Gatton, Helidon and Laidley which had originally been in the Stanley electorate. Lockyer was abolished in the 1931 redistribution, being split up between West Moreton and East Toowoomba, but was re-established in the 1949 redistribution. The Yarraman area was added in 1977, and the 1986 redistribution resulted in small parts being transferred to Toowoomba North. In the 1991 redistribution the northern half of the electorate was lost to the new seat of Crows Nest while the southern part extended south to the NSW border taking over part of the abolished seats of Somerset and Fassifern.

Logan

Established under the 1872 Electoral Districts Act which cut off the southern or Gold Coast part of the electorate of East Moreton to form the seat, it survived boundary alterations in successive redistributions which saw the seat forced closer to the Brisbane area. It was abolished in the 1949 redistribution, with a substantial portion going into Coorparoo, and revived in 1959 for an outer Brisbane rural seat based on Redlands Shire, but dropped again in the 1971 redistribution. In 1986 the name was once again used for an electorate based on the north-eastern part of the Fassifern electorate and the north-western portion of Albert. In 1991 the eastern half of the electorate was lost, leaving it based on the suburbs of Marsden, Browns Plains, Boronia Heights and Park Ridge.

Oxley

Constituted by the Electoral Districts Act of 1872, it covered a triangular area from Toowong to the Enoggera forest reserve and South to Goodna, covering the southern suburbs of Yeronga and Kurilpa all of which had been in East Moreton. When Toowong was excised in 1888, Oxley was confined to south of the river and extended as far as the present Browns Plains and Woodridge. In 1949, it was further divided into Sherwood, Yeronga and Mount Gravatt.

South Brisbane

The “Town of South Brisbane” and the “Town of Brisbane” were two of the original sixteen electorates set up under the Order-in-Council of 6th June 1859. The South Brisbane area has been the basis of successive electorates since this time which have been given variants of this name, and these are set out below in chronological sequence. Similar treatment has been given under BRISBANE for electorates relevant to that area, with references from the historically correct name inserted in the alphabetical listing at the appropriate place.

The Tableland

Based on the Atherton Tableland to the West of Cairns and contiguous areas, the seat came into being in the 1931 redistribution. The Eastern coastal portion was excised in the 1949 redistribution to form Mulgrave and the remainder enlarged to the West and North to form a new electorate of Tablelands.

Tablelands

Created in 1949 by enlarging the former seat of The Tableland, this seat was greatly expanded in the 1959 redistribution, stretching from the Atherton Tableland across the Peninsula from Edward River in the North to Burketown in the South. In the 1971 redistribution all of this area was merged into the electorate of Cook, but the electorate was re-established in the 1986 redistribution. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate extended to occupy the south-west portion of Mulgrave and the northern part of the abolished electorate of Mourilyan.

Toombul

Formed in the 1887 redistribution, the seat took in all the area between Breakfast Creek and Kedron Brook from Newmarket and Alderley to Moreton Bay, formerly part of Enoggera. In the 1911 redistribution this electorate was broken up to form the new seat of Windsor (taken from the Western portion). In 1923 the area was further reduced, and in 1931 the name was dropped and the area allocated between Hamilton and Nundah.

Toowong

Created in the 1887 redistribution, this seat took in the modern suburbs of Paddington, Rainworth, Milton, Rosalie, Toowong and the Mount Coot-tha reserve. The excision of new seats of Paddington and Ithaca in 1911 resulted in an even larger electorate to make up for the loss of the most populated areas, and it now took in all of Moggill as far as the Bremer. In 1923 all of this Western part became Enoggera and Toowong contracted back to the Auchenflower, Toowong, St. Lucia area. In 1935 the former huge area was restored, and in 1949 with the creation of Mount Coot-tha, Toowong returned to its current area. Abolished in the 1991 redistribution and its area absorbed by the new electorate of Indooroopilly and the existing electorate of Mount Coot-tha.

Toowoomba

see also Drayton and Toowoomba

Originally included in the seat of Drayton and Toowoomba, the city was for a brief period an electorate of its own right (1873-78) before being once again coupled with Drayton (1879-1911) this time however as a dual member constituency. From 1911 Toowoomba returned one member, however other electorates (Drayton, East Toowoomba to 1949, Lockyer and North Toowoomba 1949-59) covered parts of the city. In the 1959 redistribution Toowoomba was divided into east and west, and in 1971 re-apportioned into north and south, with some going into Lockyer.

Townsville

Constituted by the Electoral Districts Act of 1878, which provided one member for the seat based on the city of Townsville. The city was divided into two electorates - Townsville and Musgrave by virtue of the Additional Members Act of 1885. From 1886-1912 the seat returned two members, when single electorates were made universal, and the electorates of Townsville and Mundingburra established. In 1923 the northern part of the city was included in Kennedy and the southern part in Mundingburra. The 1959 redistribution abolished Townsville as a seat, dividing the city into Townsville North and Townsville South, but it was restored in the 1971 redistribution without however including the major suburban areas which were located in Townsville South and Townsville West. It now included also a large area of rural Townsville formerly in Hinchinbrook. The 1986 redistribution reduced the area of the seat to the city environs. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate gained a small area from the previous Townsville East and lost its south-west corner to the new seat of Mundingburra.

Warrego

Created by the Additional Members Act of 1864 as a seat in the far south-western corner of the State, based on the Warrego and Paroo River systems, the seat remained basically unchanged until 1991. It has always been a single member constituency. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate extended north west to include Quilpie from the electorate of Gregory and east to take in St George, Dirranbandi and Moonie from the abolished seat of Balonne, while to the north the towns of Blackall and Springsure were lost to Gregory.

Warwick

One of the original sixteen electoral districts constituted under the provisions of the Order-in-Council of 6th June 1859, the seat has always been based on the city of Warwick and has been a single member constituency since that time. In the 1991 redistribution the electorate expanded considerably to the south-west subsuming much of the abolished electorate of Carnarvon including the towns of Stanthorpe and Texas, while losing part of its northern area to the seat of Cunningham. In the 1999 redistribution the seat was abolished.

West Moreton

One of the original electorates proclaimed in 1859, it took in all the Brisbane River catchment area as well as the territory South of Laidley and Ipswich to the border. It was a three member constituency until the 1873 election, by which time the provisions of the 1872 redistribution had broken up the electorate into Stanley, West Moreton and Fassifern. Under the 1878 Electoral Districts Act the portion of West Moreton West of Ipswich was re-named Rosewood and the rest was added to Stanley. In the 1931 redistribution the name Rosewood was changed back to West Moreton. In the 1949 redistribution the area was split up between Lockyer, Somerset and Fassifern.

Whitsunday

First established in the 1949 redistribution when it was formed from portions of the former Bowen and Mirani electorates, the seat took in the coastal strip from South of Bowen to North of Mackay, and inland as far as Collinsville. In the 1959 redistribution the boundaries were moved south and east, excluding Collinsville, and in 1971 the northern boundary was extended almost as far as Home Hill. The 1986 redistribution resulted in the seat being confirmed to the Coastal area it originally occupied. In the 1991 redistribution the seat moved north and west into areas formerly occupied by the abolished electorate of Bowen including the towns of Bowen and Collinsville.

Wide Bay

One of the 16 original electorates of 1859 it encompassed a coastal strip from the Mooloolah River, north to Bustard Head near Gladstone, but based on Maryborough. At first a single member constituency, it returned two members 1878-1888 before reverting to a single member seat. When Maryborough became a seat of its own the seat contracted southward but still took in the rural environs of the city. In the 1949 redistribution the area was split up between the electorates of Marodian and Nash.

Windsor

Established under the 1910 Electoral Districts Act, the seat originally took in the area between Breakfast Creek and Kedron Brook, from Newmarket State School in the west to Old Sandgate Road in the East, which had been the western half of the old Toombul electorate. Successive redistributions resulted in the eastern boundary shifting further west, but it was still based on the suburbs of Alderley, Grange, Wilston and Windsor. Abolished in the 1991 redistribution and subsumed in the new electorate of Kedron and the extension of Brisbane

Central northward.

Woodridge

Electorate originally based on the Springwood, Slacks Creek, Woodridge urban centres to the South of Brisbane created in the 1977 redistribution from portions of the former electorates of Salisbury, Redlands, Mansfield and Albert. The area was reduced to less than one twentieth of its former size in the 1986 redistribution. In the 1991 redistribution the northern part of the electorate was lost to the new electorate of Sunnybank while gains were made from the electorate of Logan to the west.

Wynnum

Established in the 1923 redistribution which substituted the name for the former electorate of Bulimba. Based on the bayside areas of Waterloo Bay and Cleveland, the electorate shrunk in size with population growth, but was still based on the Wynnum-Manly area. The name was dropped in favour of Manly in the 1986 redistribution.

Yeronga

Created in the 1949 redistribution from parts of the former electorates of South Brisbane, Oxley and Logan, it was based on the suburbs of Yeronga, Fairfield and Yerongpilly. Later redistributions shifted the boundaries south and west. In the 1991 redistribution the western extension of the seat was included in the new electorate of Indooroopilly while part of South Brisbane to the north was included in Yeronga. The seat was abolished in the 1999 redistribution.
